London Speech Commits Har-

ROOT'S COURT PLAN HIT

World Wonders if Views on League of Nations Are Harvey's or Republicans'.

Washington.—One of those awkward situations in which neither President Harding nor Secretary of State Hughes can say anything without seeming to disapprove the appointment of one of their own ambassadors has arisen. For the speech of Ambassador Harvey in London wasn't submitted to the American government before it was made and the chances are that it would have been edited and certain phrases toned down if it had been cabled here for approval. As it is the administration is obliged publicly to stand by the speech and to give the impression that Ambassador Harvey hasn't said anything indiscreet.

Nevertheless in his sweeping denunciation of the League of Nations and his sarcastic references to President Wilson's war utterances, Ambassador Harvey has unwittingly gone farther than has either Mr. Harding or Mr. Hughes in stating American foreign policy. President Harding in his speech to Congress said America never would enter the present league. He never closed the door against modification of the provisions of the League so as to square with American desires. The Europeans have hoped that a commission might be appointed to consult with America and work out a program of changes satisfactory to the United States and thus bring America into the council of nations. But Ambassador Harvey has dashed aside such hopes with this statement:

"There still seems to linger in the minds of many here the impression that in some way or other, by hook or by crook, unwittingly, surely, unwillingly, America may be brought into the League of Nations. It follows then that the present government of the United States could not, without betrayal of its creators and masters, and will not, I can assure you, have anything whatsoever to do with the league or any commission or committee appointed by it or responsible to it directly or indirectly, openly or furtively."

The big news of that paragraph—indeed the sensation which far surpasses in significance the denunciation of the League of Nations—is the knowledge that Ambassador Harvey publicly disapproves of the plan for a world court formulated by Elihu Root. The world court plan called for the appointment of judges through the League of Nations. Indeed, the court has been created as a part of the League machinery and Elihu Root has said this seemed to him a wise idea.

Everybody today was asking whether Ambassador Harvey intended to make his reputation of the league so wide-sweeping as to include the court of international law which Mr. Root helped frame. It is a fact that Mr. Harvey did not hesitantly and privately heretofore to express his disapproval of the Root plan because it was tied up to the League of Nations but not until today has the Harding administration directly or indirectly been in the position of repudiating the Root plan. Did Ambassador Harvey speak his own views or those of the Washington government? Friends of Ambassador Harvey, especially those in the "irreconcilable" group, believe of course that he has only paraphrased President Harding's campaign speeches. While it may be indiscreet for a diplomatic representative of the United States to take issue with the speeches made by a preceding president of the United States in which America's war aims were proclaimed as unselfish and as based on humanitarian reasons, it is not true that Mr. Harding as a senator took the position that the war against Germany was not so far as the United States was concerned a war for "humanity" but a war in defense of American rights which had been violated on the high seas. This was his view on the night he voted for a declaration of war with Germany and his view in the last campaign. Ambassador Harvey will not go into hot water for that. The embarrassment arises from the fact that Ambassador Harvey has made a speech in a tone that rekindles here the fires of partisanship. He was specifically instructed by Mr. Harding as a parting word that partisanship ended at the coast line but then Ambassador Harvey feels he is peculiarly well fitted for the task of spokesman of the Harding administration. He lived at Marion many weeks last summer and wrote portions of the Harding campaign speeches. He knows the mind of his chief. The chances are that while he may have gone too far in expressing American foreign policy, he will not be rebuked for it. The man who will really be more unhappy about it than anybody will be Charles Evans Hughes, who has been trying to be especially cautious and discreet as he slowly evolved the main principles of American foreign policy. While Ambassador Harvey will not be reprimanded, it is a safe bet that he doesn't make another speech in many months.

JAPAN'S DISTINGUISHED VISITOR

General Leonard Wood, who is investigating Philippine conditions for President Harding, will be a guest of the Japanese government on his way home. He is shown here with Major Nishihara, war office, and Iwate, foreign office, who extended the invitation when Wood stopped at Yokohama en route to Manila.

FORD STILL AFTER SEAT IN SENATE

By L. C. Martin

By United Press Leased Wire

Washington.—Democratic leaders, determined to keep the Ford-Newberry case alive, Saturday planned a fight to prevent the senate elections committee investigation of the matter from being abandoned.

George White, chairman of the democratic national committee, is urging Senator Pomeroy of Ohio, ranking democrat on that committee, to keep the investigation going.

The supreme court recently knocked out the section of the federal corrupt practices act under which Truman H. Newberry, successful candidate for the senate in the 1918 Michigan election, was indicted and convicted in connection with his election. Henry Ford, his opponent, still has charges of fraud pending before a senate committee which has gone into much of the evidence but has not yet made a report.

Ford wants the committee to go on. He still maintains that Newberry's seat was "bought" through use of large sums of money. He has telegraphed the committee so. Ford's counsel, Alfred Lucking, will argue before the committee next Tuesday. Senator Townsend will appear for Newberry.

New York.—A necklace of pearls, diamonds and rubies, valued at $40,000 was found by E. L. Kelly, a guard on the pier where the Aquatuna docked last night. The customs officials believe the necklace was lost by a smuggler.

Hear Case Of Minister Running "Gretna Green"

By Carl Victor Little

By United Press Leased Wire

Winona, Minn., May 20.—Maryland's "Marrying Parson" went on trial here Saturday.

The case of Rev. J. L. McElmoye, accused of running a "Gretna Green" in his little parsonage at Elkton, Md., was argued before the judicial committee, the supreme court of the Presbyterian church.

Several years ago the Rev. McElmoye was charged with indiscriminately marrying elopers who dodged over the state line from Pennsylvania and Delaware.

In the case, which was reviewed before James P. Goodrich, Indiana's former governor, which presided over the trial Saturday, it was charged that the minister married thousands of couples in the little town. One count against him states that as many as 1,000 couples were united in one year.

Pastors Compete for Weddings
The hearing Saturday brought out the allegation that Rev. McElmoye and the minister of another Elkton church were running a race for "gretna green" honors to see who could marry the most couples and that the former was in the lead when the presbytery of New Castle, the lowest court, stopped the alleged marrying marathon.

Dr. Bernard Steiner, head of the Enoch Pratt libraries of Baltimore, was Rev. McElmoye's defender at the trial. The case of Rev. McElmoye's marrying practices was first

ROADS ASKING U. S. FOR IMMENSE SUM

By Ralph F. Couch

By United Press Leased Wire

Washington.—Railroads Saturday attempted to collect $1,250,000,000 from the United States railroad administration.

In submitting the claim, the road managers charged in effect that the government during federal control of the roads failed to get its money's worth from labor employed at high wages. Director General Davis of the railroad administration, who is adjusting the claims, denies the charge of the railroad managers, declaring that the government owes them not more than 40 per cent of the amount claimed, $500,000,000. Some roads have already settled for 40 per cent of their claims.

The basis for the claims is the promise made by the White House when the roads were taken over that they would be returned in the same physical condition in which they were received.

To carry out this promise the railroad administration wrote into its contracts with the roads which were signed at the beginning of federal control, clauses under which the government was to spend as much for maintenance and new equipment as the roads themselves had spent in former times. This measure was to be corrected to cover rising wages and costs of materials, so that the physical work done should be equivalent to that formerly done by the roads.

HUTTON IS LOCATED AFTER 3-DAY SEARCH

By United Press Leased Wire

Milwaukee.—A three day search for R. P. Hutton, superintendent of the Wisconsin Anti-Saloon league, charged with violating the state corrupt practices act, ended Saturday when he was arrested by police here.

Hutton was taken into custody as he was about to enter the district courtroom in the city hall.

He was arraigned in district court and his lawyers entered a plea of not guilty. His bond was fixed at $2,000 and the case continued until June 3.

STATE DRY INSPECTOR PROTESTS INNOCENCE

By United Press Leased Wire

Milwaukee.—"It's a plot to make me the goat and save others," Nelson A. White, chief inspector in the office of the federal prohibition director for the state, today denied charges of violating the prohibition laws.

Joseph Ray, White's aide, also emphatically denied he violated the dry laws.

The two men were named in federal warrants, alleging they shipped and sold booze.

"I am innocent," White said. "Agents of a whiskey clique apparently have deceived federal authorities by statements."

Both men will be given a preliminary hearing next Friday.

WOULD REQUIRE ALL CHILDREN TO FINISH 8TH GRADE

Bill Ordered to Engrössment in Assembly Raises Age Limit of Pupils.

By United Press Leased Wire
Madison.—Children are required to continue in school until they pass the eighth grade or reach the age of 15 years under the terms of a bill ordered to engrössment in the assembly Saturday.

Fourteen is the age limit for compulsory school attendance under the existing law.

Common schools are also required to give part time education to children or establish vocational training schools, according to the bill which John Dahl, member from Rice Lake, is the author. This provision is for the purpose of allowing needy children to work part time and go to school part time.

The bill, if enacted, will cause a radical change in the common school courses.

It does not apply to the rural schools.

Because of the absence of a quorum the Sachtjen bill, raising the wage limit used as a basis for computing employers' liability insurance from $22.50 per week to $30 per week, was laid over until next Thursday.

This measure has been engrössed by the assembly and is up for final passage. The existing law gives injured workmen 65 per cent of their average weekly earnings but places a maximum at $22.50 barring employees from receiving more than $14.62 per week during disability.

The Higgins joint resolution providing for a legal holiday to commemorate the soldiers, sailors and marines of the world war, was killed in the assembly on the ground the present Memorial day was adequate for the purpose.

The assembly placed on final passage a bill providing that in case of small-pox epidemics the state board of health physicians shall vaccinate children free of charge.

YOUNG WIFE ENDS LIFE IN THEATER

Shoots Self When Other Man
She Loved Declined to Marry Her.

Newark, N. J.—Mrs. Mabel Connolly, 19, committed suicide in a movie theater after Elmer L. Broadwell, also 19, refused her proposal of marriage.

Broadwell, who was held as a material witness, was expected to be released shortly. He said he accompanied Mrs. Connolly to the theater and shortly before the end of the performance she asked him if he would marry her, if she divorced Connolly.

"I told her I was fond of her but that I did not love her enough to marry her," he said.

"She left me to go to the rest room, after saying: 'Then I have not got a friend in the world; I might as well be dead.'"

The sound of the shot was heard in the lobby of the theater and a panic was narrowly averted. Broadwell was the first to reach her. Ushers testified that he entered the room after the shot was fired.

Broadwell said he met Mrs. Connolly in Lincoln park three months ago. He said she had her 15-month-old baby with her and seemed to be unhappy, so he spoke to her. He said he was with her several times after that.

Broadwell said Mrs. Connolly came to his home in a taxi, told him she was afraid her husband beat her and induced him to accompany her to her home.

AMBITIOUS GROOM TAKES OWN LIFE

By United Press Leased Wire

Brandon, Man.—To be promoted from accountant to manager of the Merchants Bank of Canada, married and committed suicide within twenty days is the history of the last three weeks of the life of Gordon Clifford Hamelin.

Hamelin, who was 26 years old, had been with the bank eight years, in which time he had risen from junior to accountant of the Brandon branch. He was married May 2 to Miss E. F. Rathwell of Brandon, soon after he was promoted to the position of manager of the branch at Seneca, Sask., and left for there a few days ago.

Mrs. Hamelin remained in Brandon for a few days and the suicide is believed to have been brought about by momentary loneliness. His mother died less than a month ago.

MORE CONFESSIONS ARE GAINED FROM BOMBERS

By United Press Leased Wire

Chicago.—Two new confessions from men accused in connection with the bombing and slugging plots in Chicago's labor troubles, were announced by police Saturday.

James Sweeney, alleged leader of the gang which bombed scores of buildings here, and Andrew Bartlett, accused of being the chief bomber, confessed, Chief of Police Charles Fitzmorris announced.

The stories told by Sweeney and Bartlett were practically identical with the confession of Andrew Kerr, member of the gang who first squealed.

Capital Bows In Sorrow At White Burial

Funeral of Late Justice Is Attended by President and Official Throng.

BY HERBERT W. WALKER

By United Press Leased Wire

Washington.—With ceremonies marked by simplicity, the body of Edward Douglas White, late chief justice of the United States supreme court, was laid to rest here Saturday.

Official Washington.—President Harding, high army and navy officers, members of the cabinet, the diplomatic corps and congress—thronged to St. Matthew Roman Catholic church for the rites.

President Harding, accompanied by Mrs. Harding, attended. Senator Lodge headed the committee representing the senate and Speaker Gillett, the house.

The eight remaining justices of the supreme court were honorary pallbearers for their long time friend and associate. The casket covered by a mass of flowers, expressing the esteem of many noted men of the land, reposed just in front of the altar of the church where the aged jurist had worshipped for many years. His friend Monsignor Thomas E. Lee, pastor of the church, sang the solemn requiem high mass.

Floral tributes were sent by President Harding and ex-Presidents Wilson and Taft.

From the church the body of the chief justice was taken to Oak Hill cemetery where final interment was made in the presence of immediate relatives and the associate justices.

BANDITS UNLOAD RICH SWAG FROM N. Y. C. FREIGHT

Hold Train Crew at Bay While $50,000 Worth of Merchandise Is Taken.

By United Press Leased Wire

North Tonawanda, N. Y.—Bandits Saturday stopped a westbound freight on the New York Central railroad on the Sanborn branch near here, held the fireman and engineer at bay with revolvers, robbed cars of merchandise valued at $50,000 and escaped.

About 26 bandits took part in the holdup and six motor trucks were used to haul away the loot.

The train was stopped as it was going up a heavy grade. The twenty-six bandits were all armed and the crew was easily overpowered.

The robbers stopped the train for fully 45 minutes to remove the loot. Seventeen cars were broken open and when the train reached Lockport it was described as "half empty."

A trail for a short distance was left behind the fleeing trucks by bolts of silk and other merchandise joggled out.

Scores of detectives and possees are scouring the country herabouts but no clue to the robbers was obtained.

Wife Of Millionaire Had Monia For Stealing

By United Press Leased Wire

Chicago.—The family of Mrs. Joseph S. Hill, millionaire maid and confessed robber, stood loyally by her Saturday as she stood accused of stealing $20,000 worth of household goods. Two children and her husband remained with her at the detention home throughout the night, while she underwent examination to determine if she was a raffer or a kleptomaniac. Verdict of physicians and police was that it was a clear case of kleptomania.

Mrs. Hill, charming young wife of a millionaire banker and investment broker, lived in a palatial home surrounded by every luxury. Her husband gave her $500 a month for pin money and besides paid bills of everything she purchased.

She had a nurse, a cook, two maids and a houseman. She was the mother of three sturdy young boys and a girl, recently married.

Yet when police traced her to her home they found $20,000 worth of stolen household goods and jewelry ranging from candy cages to diamond rings, silver and de luxe editions. Pawn tickets for $5,000 worth of goods which had been disposed of, were found.

Mrs. Hill was identified as the "perfect maid" by a score of housekeepers on the north shore Gold Coast. They identified her as the person who for many months has answered ads for a "maid" and after staying a few days, would disappear with the most expensive household articles on which she could lay her hands. Mrs. Hill used her own $6,000 to haul the goods to her home. She explained to her husband and children that she purchased the goods at auction. They thought she had a penchant for auction sales. Her husband made out checks for her covering the amount which she said paid for goods brought home.

The arrest of Mrs. Hill followed the robbery of the home of Mrs. J. Miller on Wednesday. Two men who had been in the household before the robbery, identified her later after the robbery was reported and called police.

"I had no reason to steal," Mrs. Hill cried piteously.

"My husband gave me everything I could possibly want."

"I never knew I had taken the things until I would see them about my home. I was so ashamed after wards I would not let my husband know. I would steal again though. I couldn't help it."

The case was more distressing because Mrs. Hill is soon to become a mother again.

Members of the family said Mrs. Hill was injured in an auto accident and an infection set in. A wound in her limb has never healed, and they believed it had affected her mentally. She was confined in a sanitarium for some time.

FILIPINO WOMAN SHOWS HER PEOPLE HOW TO RUN CITY

Women of United States Might Pattern After Hard Work-

BY CHARLES EDWARD RUSSELL

Manila.—Mrs. Bangkungan Enuk, the Mohammedan mayoress or president of the municipal district of Buluan, province of Cotabato, is 44 years old, captains a successful farm as well as the municipality, possesses an eminently practical mind, is famed as the model cook and household manager of that region, and finds time to look after the public schools and identify to champion the cause of universal education.

She has had experiences, this woman, and her place in the government is not accidental but earned. She was good enough to dictate for me an account of her life, and Mohammedanism as she is, most of the scenes in it might have been taken from the vicissitudes of an American pioneer woman of a century ago.

Her father was a farmer in the district of Duluanan, (not Buluan), island of Mindanao, region of the wild Moros. Her mother was a sister of a celebrated datu or leader, the Datu Piang. She was reared like the other Mohammedan girls of that time and place; that is to say, she was taught by her mother, and while she was never in the least sequestered, nor weighed upon with any idea of woman's inferiority she was expected to learn by observing her elders. She may be surmised to have observed well for she came out of the pupillage with a shrewd mind and an independent habit of using it.

When she was about nineteen she was married to the adopted son of another leader, the Datu Oto, Datu Piang and Datu Oto fell out after a time and their followers went to fighting. Fighting was easy in those days; it was the principal business of life. The young husband adhered to the cause of his adopted father. It is dead against all our conceptions of the Mohammedan woman and Moammedanism life, but his wife took the other side of the quarrel and they separated. She exercised her rights under the existing system and got a divorce.

A Spanish major came, (this was before the days of Dewey) fell in love with her and wanted to marry her. She escaped by marrying another man of her own people, the Datu Enuk. The country was but ill organized, the duties performed in a crude way the functions of magis-

Paderewski Says Plebiscite

Paris.—Great Britain Saturday informed France that her attitude on the Upper Silesian question is unchanged. An official note forwarded by Lord Curzon, British secretary of state for foreign affairs, was received by Premier Briand. The communication reiterated the British stand on Upper Silesia which was said to be the same as that outlined by Premier Lloyd George in his recent address before the house of commons—that Germany has a right to defend her province of Upper Silesia from Polish aggression.

The French press continues its bitter attacks on Lloyd George. The Journal declares that Lloyd George's entourage is responsible for the infamous accusations contained in the French newspapers, adding that if he wishes to verify this all he has to do is to "open the door to his office."

According to the Journal, Britain is drifting toward an economic entente with Germany as the result of a political understanding.

Britain Wants Speed
By Ed. L. Keen

London.—With the British urging speed in settlement of the Upper Silesian question by the supreme council, the French continued to play for time Saturday.

Premier Briand informed the British government that he agreed in principle, with the proposed special meeting of the council to complete the problem, but that it must await completion of the debate in the chamber of deputies over his foreign policies.

Inasmuch as the chamber has adjourned until Tuesday, it is not believed the council can meet before Friday. The debate is almost certain to run through Wednesday and 36 hours must elapse before Count Sforza, foreign minister of Italy, can reach Boulogne after official notification. British official circles there appear to be unanimous opinion that the French chamber will give Briand a vote of confidence by a large majority. The progress of the debate has been watched here with the greatest interest.

Lloyd George Absent
Premier Lloyd George is spending the weekend in an unnamed town on the south coast. He has made no definite arrangements for any conferences but is in constant touch with the situation.

From authoritative sources it has been learned that British troops will leave soon for Upper Silesia, although the number and character of the contribution is not yet known. Officials are awaiting further pronouncements from Washington or Ambassador Harvey before announcing extent of their participation.

Paderewski Defends Poland
Pawel Kobier, Calf.—"Strong pressure and real terror" exerted by "German employers, land owners and officials upon the poor Polish workmen, and laborers," helped Germany win an apparent victory in the Upper Silesian plebiscite, Ignace Paderewski, charged in an exclusive statement to the United Press Saturday.

Paderewski, who deserted his piano to become the first premier and leader of Poland, now is living at his estate here, resting from the strain of months in the thick of European turmoil. He devotes his time to the open air, his music, his friends and his books.

"Germany was bound to obtain in the whole of Upper Silesia a majority of votes owing to certain peculiar conditions," he declared.

"Several districts with an almost entirely German population have been included in the plebiscite area."

Pressure and Terror
"Strong pressure and real terror have been exercised by German employers, land owners and officials upon the poor Polish workmen and laborers, many of them having been compelled to vote for Germany against their wishes."

"Over two hundred thousand Germans supposedly born in Upper Silesia have been allowed to take part in the plebiscite, to decide the fate of the country although they have never lived and never will live there."

The people of Poland have "lost their patience and have arisen in spontaneous revolt," he said, declaring that they would not be given justice by the allied diplomats.

trates, and it was while her husband was judging the people that Mrs. Inuk got her first lessons in public affairs. It seems the worthy Inuk was a soft hearted old boy and could never bring himself to be harsh with offenders. When he had a case that called for any severity he turned it over to his wife, who did what was necessary in the premises and brought the evil doers up with a round turn.

Although a duma, Mr. Inuk was desperately poor and his wife learned in years of fierce struggle for existence whatever virtue may be in hard work, self-denial and prudence. In the judgment of her fellow-townpeople she has since made exceedingly good use of the tuition.

The Americans came and the run of Moros in that region started in to fight them. Under the leadership of the Datu Ali. Not so the discerning Inuk, who sided with the Americans. His lady wife once more played off her own bat and cast in her lot against her husband and the newcomers. She says now she made a great mistake, and pleads that she did not know. While Inuk was off with the Americans, Mrs. Inuk got around on the other side with the Ali's forces. She was in the last fight when that doughty old fighter passed in and was lying in a house with some of his followers and women folks when the line of battle swept that way and the house came directly under fire. She escaped unhurt but sprinkled with the blood of the less fortunate.

General Wood appeared next with peace in his right hand and plans for a new Moro-law under his cap. He looked upon this place, Baluan, which was then a desert waste, and saw that it was the natural site for a town that should be the center for a thriving agriculture country and he started to build it. Then he made Inuk the deputy provincial governor. Mr. and Mrs. Inuk made up their differences and held on together until he died in office.

Meantime, General Wood's foresight about Baluan had been justified. A booming little town was growing up and its citizens wanted a mayor or president for that district. They experimented with two mere male persons, and the results were not up to expectations. Then they turned to Mrs. Inuk. She had been their just and efficient judge in the days of Datu Inuk, she was ways on any job she understood and if she could manage the town as well as she managed her household all would be well in Baluan.

The prevailing arrangement in those days was that the people of a town vote for their president and the governor appointed whomsoever got the most votes. At the next election the populace rallied around Mrs. Inuk and when she went under the wire in the race her competitors had hardly started. Here is the tally sheet for that election.

For President of Baluan

Mrs. Bungangan Inuk 147 votes
President Katug 18 votes
Councillor Tumbabay 6 votes
Councillor Datang 3 votes

She took up the duties of her office on September 15, 1918, and she is there yet and they do say, in Baluan that if an election were to be held today Mrs. President would get all the votes.

The first thing she did when she laid hand upon the helm of state in Baluan was to give out a tip that the district would have to be clean and go straight and the next was to make the tip good. It is said by the judicious that she was a holy terror to malefactors, keep to the law or get out was her motto and in three months she had the crooks and vagrants rounded up, in jail or on the run.

She then turned her powerful mind to the public schools. There is no compulsory education in the Philippines, and in the case of refractory pupils or families attendance at the schools often depends upon the personal influence and activities of the local president. Mrs. Inuk didn't let it depend long. Whoever wanted the good will and approval of the mayor and his children to the public school must send his children to school. In Manila and Washington wise men had long foreseen the total failure of any attempt to introduce modern education among these people. By all accounts they need now to take one good trip to Baluan and see Mrs. Inuk operate the school system there.

The first year she was in office she nearly doubled the attendance. The next year, 1919-20 showed an increase in the enrollment of 110 girls and 30 boys; she was particularly insistent upon education for girls and compelled the householders to accept her views on that subject regardless of all opposition. Last year the school accommodations for girls proving inadequate, because of her recruiting labors, she went out, raised the money and built a new school house for her female flock.

"Raise it," said I to the enthusiastic townsman that was relating to me these marvels, "How did she raise it?"

"Oh, I don't know," he said. "She just said she had to have that school house and everybody felt it would be a shame to disappoint her."

She is interested also in sanitation and public health; she insists upon clean and orderly streets and urges cleanly ways upon the householders. Over the deliberations of the district council she is said to preside with dignity and eminent success, just says what she wants to have done and the council vote of "Aye!" She keeps up with current ideas, believes in progress, believes in her people, works hard and seems to be happy, running

PARKING PLAN NOT OF INTEREST TO OFFICIALS

Private parking of automobiles and insurance against loss, and the doing away with parking on College-ave. in the business district was put up to the city by a company engaged in that line of work. The proposition, however, did not interest the officials. The plan of the company is to lease a tract of land in the heart of the city, fence it and charge a fee for parking. The owner of an automobile is insured against loss and all that is required of the city is to prohibit parking within a certain zone in the business district.

her farm with one hand and the district with the other.

But of course she raises a question hard to answer. How can a people that can develop a woman so talented for the administration of public affairs be deemed by anybody anywhere incapable of self-government? It doesn't seem to be in nature.

An electrically heated steam table, like a tea wagon, has been brought out for hospital use.

Double chains may now be removed by means of a new electrical vibrating mechanism.

SCOUTS STRANDED ON RIVER ISLAND

Troops three, eight and ten of the Appleton Boy Scouts, under the supervision of E. R. Henderson, scout executive, took an overnight hike to Alicia park Friday evening. Part of the boys arrived at their destination in time to cook their own supper and all were on hand Saturday morning to cook breakfast.

The boys rose early in the morning and had a game of ball before returning home. Three of the boys, Willard Peterson, Ralph Schneider and Robert Matz, were strolling along the river when they saw a man coming in a boat. They asked him for a ride to a small island near the middle of the stream and the request was granted. While the boys explored the island the man with the boat went away, leaving the boys to figure a way of returning to the shore.

About 15 feet of water separated the boys from the mainland. They did not care to swim but finally decided that they must if they wanted to get off the island. They were saved, however, when one of the party discovered an old cast away boat with which the boys made their escape.

SPEECH ARTS CLUB WINS FLOAT PRIZE

The Speech Arts club of Lawrence college was presented with a silver loving cup by F. C. Hyde Friday as a prize for preparing the most artistic float for the college parade which was held at 10 o'clock in the morning.

A small car was decorated in lavender and white crepe paper and attached to a large car by lavender and white streamers. Lawrence Pusey drove the first car and was costumed to represent Prof. F. W. Orr. Victor Warner in white and Miss Marie Jorsch in lavender occupied the front seat of the larger car while Pearl Werbel, Helen Ritchie and Esther Baldwin dressed in white were in the back seat of the automobile.

Each of the three girls in the tonneau carried little gold flutes. Lavender and white flowers and ribbons gayly trimmed the float.

WILL ATTEND GATHERING AT PLYMOUTH SUNDAY

A number of young people of Mt. Olive English Lutheran church will auto to Plymouth Sunday to attend the annual district convention of the Walther League at which plans will be made for the annual national convention to be held in Milwaukee July 17 to 21.

The delegates are Marie Greiner,

Elsie Reinke, Leona Hagner, Reno Doerfler, Lloyd Doerfler, William Kraemer, Herbert Schultz, Minnie Harp, Miss Schultz, Rose Harp and Clara Wolf.

It was formerly believed in England that the flesh of a hunted hare was superior in flavor to that of one that had not been hunted.

In four years from planting, a rubber tree, will measure 18 inches in girth and will be ready for tapping.

Death of shade trees is attributed to electric wires that touch them. Hospitals in the Idaho mining districts are equipped for electrical treatment for lead poisoning.

PAIGE

The Most Beautiful Car in America

A Car With Personality

There is an air of distinction about the New Series "Glenbrook" that you will find in no other moderate priced, five passenger car. That is why it has been adopted by really smart people who will not tolerate the commonplace.

Then, remember, it not only looks but acts the thoroughbred. Under the hood there is a marvelously efficient motor that accelerates from five to twenty five miles per hour in nine seconds flat. This means giant energy for hills and every test of the highway.

Last, but not least, the "Glenbrook" is a rigid Economist. It extracts every atom of power from a gallon of gasoline and turns up surprising mileage on a set of tires. It is a thrift car with a keen sporting personality—a very hard combination to find.

But we ask you to establish these facts for yourself. Take just one ride in the "Glenbrook" and discover what actually lies hidden under the hood. It will prove a revelation, we believe, and a liberal education in strictly modern engineering.

2 SHIFT SYSTEM FOR FIREMEN IS ENACTED AS LAW

Firemen Here Are Sure Departmental Efficiency Will Be Increased.

Appleton firemen are rejoicing over the passage of the "two platoon" law by the state legislature, providing for two shifts of firemen to relieve each other. Local firemen, with others in the state, have been advocating passage of the law for several years and were more determined in their efforts after the city council had refused to adopt the system. The law becomes effective Jan. 1, 1922.

Unexpected opposition to the law developed when representatives of several cities, including Appleton, appeared before the legislature and opposed the measure. It was charged by friends of the bill that the opposition was due largely to the clause of the law which made it obligatory on cities to establish the two platoon system.

The number of working hours and leisure hours are to be the same and are to be fixed by the governing board

TRACTOR TO MOVE STUMPS FROM PARK

City Getting Alicia Park Ready and Is Fixing Up Streets and Sidewalks.

The new tractor purchased by the city has such powerful pulling capacity that it is soon to be tried out as a stump puller. There are between 30 and 40 stumps in Alicia park which the city engineer intends to remove before the park is used as a camping ground for tourists and from his experience with the tractor he is satisfied it will do the work.

When asked when the park would be open for a camping ground the city engineer said it could be used for such purposes at any time. Quite a number of improvements, however, will be made within the next few weeks. The stumps are all to be removed, the low places filled in and a parking place made for automobiles. One of the present buildings, to be used for preparing meals during unfavorable weather, is to be removed to a more favorable location.

While the west end of College-ave. is being paved the official route to the park which is to be indicated by

EARLY MAILING IS BEST POLICY FOR BUSINESS HOUSES

Frequent Deposit of Mail Helps Postoffice and Expedites Business.

"Our campaign for early mailing is having commendable results," said Postmaster Gustave Keller. "Many firms are closing up their mail at noon or early afternoon and depositing it for dispatch. Some send mail as often as four times a day."

Mr. Keller has advocated early mailing for some time and was making good headway when the department at Washington, D. C. also took up the movement. Now it has gotten to a point where much of the evening congestion is relieved and one of the night men works daytimes instead.

Circulars and other advertising matter ought to be deposited at intervals during the day also, Mr. Keller says. If mailed at the close of the day's business this mail must lie untouched until all letters and newspaper mail are disposed of. Much of it is worked and out of the way before the evening rush if sent to the postoffice during the day. There ought to be a mailing every time a good sized portion is ready, the postmaster says.

Much benefit accrues to the firms adopting the early mailing policy, as well as distributing the work of the postoffice more evenly. Letters deposited for delivery to Chicago cannot leave Appleton until 2 o'clock in the morning if they are mailed after 3:30 o'clock in the afternoon. North-bound mails left after 5:40 o'clock do not go out until midnight. Mail for Soo line points north, starts on its way at midnight unless sent before noon. There is a saving of 12 to 24 hours in time required for delivery if offices will close their mail earlier and be guided by the train schedules, Mr. Keller points out.

There appears to be a revival or an attempt at revival of business, Mr. Keller believes, judging from the amount of advertising and circular matter that is handled at the postoffice each day. All through the month there has been a record amount of this class of mail. Whole shipments of circulars that it takes clerks hours to work arrive occasionally. Appleton firms also are on the job and are mailing out volumes of matter soliciting business. The preceding months were quiet so far as advertising material was concerned, but April and May took a decided spurt.

Through Sleeping Car.
A through sleeping car will be operated by the Northwestern Railway company, beginning June 8 between Chicago and the Soo, carrying passengers through without change. It will leave Chicago every Tuesday and Friday at 6 o'clock, arriving in Appleton at 11:37.

WASHINGTON-ST. TO BE CONTINUOUS

Gap at Ravine Will Be Filled With Dirt From Excavations for Buildings.

"It is our intention to open up the west end of Washington-st. through the big ravine with earth from the site of the new Lutheran Aid building," said O. F. Weissgerber, city engineer, "and to secure enough earth to cover up all the rubbish dumped into the ravine on the west side between Washington-st. and College-ave. and discontinue using it for a dumping ground."

Mr. Weissgerber said after this work is completed the dumping ground will be transferred to the north side of Washington-st., between the street and the Northwestern railroad track, which is the intention to fill up as rapidly as possible. The ravine between College-ave. and Washington-st. will be kept free from tin cans and all kinds of rubbish.

A large portion of the earth from the Lutheran Aid building will also be dumped into the big ravine at the south end of Superior-st. which is at present being filled up with earth from the Brettschneider building.

MY FIRST JOB

FRANK NEUMAN,
Barber

When I was 13 years old, I began work on a farm in Beaver Dam for $10 a month. My work consisted of regular farm chores, milking, feeding stock and such things. Of course, that didn't take all day, and when we finished, there was work to do in the fields.

When we managed to get through in the fields, we went to the woods and did a little toward clearing off the land. I had a fine farmer to work for, and even if the work was hard, I stuck. Every day about 10 o'clock a good lunch would be sent us and gain in the afternoon. It is 35 years since I worked there. It was a year and a half before I left for another job.

After the hauling is completed no further dumping of tin cans or rubbish of any kind will be permitted at that point by the city.

of the fire department, presumably the police and fire commission working with the chief.

Under present conditions firemen are given one day off every four, which means that one-fourth of the 19 active firemen in the department are off duty every day, leaving only 14 to man the trucks. The two platoon system does not mean doubling the number of men in the department because the five men who are off every day will be part of the second platoon.

A higher standard of efficiency will be possible under the two platoon system because the men will be more satisfied with their work and there will be less shifting of positions. Under the present system it is necessary to train three men for every position because there is always the possibility of two men being off duty. For example when the regular driver of the hook and ladder truck is off duty for a day it is necessary to have a man to take his place and a third man must be in readiness to drive while the second man is taking his meals or to act in case the second man is ill. This means that men are shifted from one piece of apparatus to another almost daily and consequently they are unable to become real specialists in any phase of the work.

With the two platoon system in force it will be necessary to train only two men in each platoon for a particular job and they will remain at that work, insuring greater efficiency.

The extra expense connected with two complete crews will not be as large as anticipated because it will not be necessary to double the number in the present department. Firemen are convinced that the greater efficiency resulting from more ideal working conditions will more than compensate the city for the little extra expense entailed by the system.

REFORESTATION IS BIG ISSUE BEFORE C. OF C.

A policy of reforestation that will embrace every community in the nation is being outlined by the Chamber of Commerce of the United States for adoption. A report on the manner in which this is being accomplished has been received by the local chamber, together with an appeal for local support.

Appleton already has gone on record as favoring such a policy, especially with reference to Wisconsin. The national movement embodies a program of cooperation between the federal government and states as well as private timberland owners, to effect a national policy by which the forest reserves of the country will be preserved. David L. Goodwillie, Chicago, is chairman of the committee having this matter in charge and has appointed sub-committees to make a complete survey from all angles.

APPLETON MAN HELPING TOMAHAWK GET HOUSES

C. B. Pride of Tomahawk, formerly of Appleton, in an effort to relieve the housing situation in Tomahawk, has announced he will level off a tract of land on South Tomahawk-ave. and make it available for home building purposes. When this work is completed he will give a building lot free to anyone who desires to erect a home.

Tomahawk is short approximately 100 homes at present and with the building of a new paper mill conditions will become worse. It is believed many will take advantage of Mr. Pride's offer.

SUMMER COTTAGES ARE FILLING UP RAPIDLY

Cottages at Brighton beach are filling up rapidly; one of the latest Appleton families to move out was that of Fred Bushey. Nearly all the cottages have been leased and several new ones are being erected. George Ulmeyer of Menasha, completed a new one Saturday and will occupy it at once. The demand for cottages is due to the scarcity of houses in Appleton, Neenah and Menasha.

Fred Fritch of Menasha called on Appleton friends Thursday.

CONVINCING PROOF

That Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Has Extraordinary Curative Power in Cases of Woman's Ailments

Columbus, O.—"I suffered very much pain during my periods and felt weak and all run down. I tried many remedies and the doctor said I would have to have an operation. Then before my baby was born I had terrible pains in my sides. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it helped me wonderfully. I have had two children since I began taking your medicine and did all of my own work including washing. You may use this letter as a testimonial if you wish." —Mrs. THOMAS L. CHRISTY, 704 West Mound St., Columbus, Ohio.

Such a condition as Mrs. Christy was in points directly to a deranged condition of a woman's system, and by following her example taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, women may be relieved from such ailments and be restored to normal health and strength just as she was.

If there is anything about your condition you do not understand write Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass., about your health.

A GAIN FOR GERMANY

There is one feature of the peace settlement which is of incalculable value to Germany and which in reality gives her an advantage over all the other great nations. By the terms of the treaty she is required, and has agreed, to disarm as to military, naval and aerial forces. When we translate the consequences of this into economic and social equations they become of the highest significance.

It is true that Germany will have to pay a large reparations bill, and that to do this will necessitate heavy taxation. But she can reduce the bill and in time pay it and she will not have to support parasitic royalty or a venomous militaristic tapeworm. All of Germany's brawn and brains will be producing and constructing, solely. Nations as well as individuals work best and most successfully under such inspiration. Other nations will be groaning and sweating under taxation for the support of military establishments which produce waste, solely. Let us make the comparison in concrete form:

DISARMED GERMANY	ARMED NATIONS
Decrease in industrial efficiency.	Hundreds of thousands in the army and navy, producing nothing.
Increase in production.	A vast amount of human intelligence devoted to poison gas, new explosives, big warships and other instruments of destruction.
Increase in thought and effort for invention and science.	Enormous, ever growing war tax burden on the people.
Advancement in arts.	The fostering of suspicion, enmity and the factors that breed war.
Tremendous decrease in tax income wasted.
Large sums available for public works.

Germany has long held high rank in science, art, industry, invention and commercial enterprise. Germany will now of necessity confine her talents and her energies to these lines. If this development is pursued to its logical conclusion the Germany of the next generation should hate militarism as their predecessors worshipped it. Germany now has an opportunity not only to resume her place among nations in civilized advancement but to out-distance them. To relieve her of her military burdens means to lift from her chains that throttle development. It is not warlike progress, but peaceful progress in inventions, industry and a higher efficiency of brain and hand that counts in the final analysis.

All of Napoleon's victorious battles produced—St. Helena. His laws, his roads, his public buildings and institutions, even some of his philosophies, bless France to-day. The question before the other nations, including the United States, is whether they are to go on spending money recklessly in a vain attempt to acquire superiority and leadership through military power. When we consider the fact that most of the money raised for national purposes in this country alone goes for war, and is pure waste, we should be able to reach an appreciation of what this policy means and of what it is leading us to, in common with other nations so engaged, in ultimate results.

"ZYX"

An English dictionary now being completed was started before the American Civil war. It was sponsored by Archbishop Trench in an address before the British Philological Society.

This dictionary, in many volumes, is the largest ever compiled. Its makers searched all known books printed before 1500. The total number of books combed for words exceeds 100,000. Word specialists who have contributed to the work, many of them Americans, number more than 1300.

Twenty-one columns are devoted to the one word "get," a word that seems about the most important in the language to many persons.

The last word in the dictionary is "zyx," which is old Kentish for "thou seest." Some persons think it most desirable to have the last word. Let them have this one. No one else would have any use for it.

WHAT WE PAY TEACHERS

The teacher is the most important factor in the school. Other things help; but good teachers make good schools under adverse conditions. Poor teachers make only poor schools under the best of conditions. Approximately sixty per cent of all expenditures for public schools in the United States are for the salaries of teachers. The pay of teachers is adequate only when it results in giving to all the schools competent teachers, teachers fitted for their great work by native ability and disposition, by general education, by professional instruction and training, and by experience both in school and in the practical things of life.

Notwithstanding many fine and striking exceptions, good teachers cannot as a rule be had for meager pay. Men and women of the best native ability, of the personality and character which should be required of all teachers of American children and youth, and of future American citizens, cannot be induced to spend the time and money and energy necessary to gain the preparation they should have for assured success as teachers, and then make teaching their profession for life, for much less than they might earn in other professions and occupations requiring equal ability and preparation and involving about the same amount of work and responsibility. Even if they would do so teachers should not be expected to live on a lower plane socially and economically than other hardworking men and women.

Neither is it good for the schools nor for society that the teachers should live the abnormal life of celibates or of homeless wanderers. Teachers should be normal men and women living a normal life as good American citizens in a normal way and under such conditions as will enable them to do their work in the best and most effective way, which can be done only when they work happily and joyously, under normal conditions, with reasonable freedom from financial care.

The cheapest thing in the world is a good teacher at any reasonable price. The time and intellect and the life and character of our children are too precious to be wasted and misused by teachers who for any reason are incompetent. The work of the teachers is the most important work done in America. More depends on it than on the work of any other class of men and women. On the way in which it is done depends the happiness of the individual and the wealth and welfare of society, state, and nation. Some day we shall learn that the work of the teacher is the most important factor in the production of material wealth; that when we pay good teachers liberally we are only returning to them a small part of the wealth which they by their effective work have made possible.

In most states the average salary of rural teachers is much lower than that of city teachers. In four states—Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia, Wisconsin—it is less than half as large; in several others only a little more than half as large. In six states the average salary of rural school teachers was in 1918 less than $300; in eight more, less than $400. The average for the United States was only $479. In 1918 there were tens of thousands of teachers in the rural schools whose salaries for the year were less than the states and counties in which they taught allowed for feeding prisoners in the county jails for a year, and there are many thousands of such in these schools in this school year of 1920-21. In only two states were the salaries of all teachers as much as $1,000. In no state was it as much as $1,400. In only six states was the average salary of teachers in city schools as much as $1,000 and in no state was it as much as $1,400. Wisconsin was nineteenth from the bottom of the 48 states in 1918 salaries. It was well below the average for the country.

Compare the averages for the United States as a whole: $635 for all teachers; $854 for all city teachers; $479 for all rural teachers; and $1,099 for all high school teachers, with the salaries, wages, and earnings of hard-working, educated men and women of good native ability, strong personality, and positive aggressive character in other professions, callings and occupations, and then when you are inclined to complain of the work of the teachers and the inadequacy of the schools ask yourself: What ought one to expect at these prices? We should also ask ourselves: What shall we have to pay before we may expect competent teachers in all our schools and satisfactory results from them?

A collar for a cow's neck, to prevent her drinking her own milk, has just been patented.

The telephone wires in the United States would girdle the earth at the equator 1153 times.

ACUTE SORE THROAT

The throat feels sore when a foreign body such as a fishbone is lodged in it or when it has been burned by the accidental or intentional swallowing of a corrosive or acid poison. But usually acute sore throat is caused by bacterial infection, not one specific species of bacterium but any one or a mixed infection of at least half a dozen different species, such as the Pneumococcus (a common cause of sore throat, tonsillitis, quinsy, acute coryza, bronchitis, pneumonia), pleurococcus (heart lifting inflammation), and sometimes appendicitis or peritonitis; various strains of Streptococcus (this may come from milk when there is some inflammation of the cow's udder, and is the usual cause of severe "septic" sore throat occurring in epidemics among the patrons of a given dairy or users of the milk from the affected cow); various Staphylococci, Micrococci, Diplococci, and just Cocci, names calculated to make any one cock-eyed.

Sore throat infection is spread in the same way that all the other respiratory infections are spread—by direct infection chiefly, and in some cases by direct contact. To avoid the infection, one must keep outside the five-foot barrage. Anybody seen wearing a red (white, green, pink or blue) rag around the throat is certainly a source of danger to all who approach closer than five feet. If acute sore throat propagated only in kind, the crime of carrying the infection in a public place would be atrocious enough; but if you will mind the bacterial cause you will remember that Brown's sore throat is likely to become Smith's pleurisy or pneumonia or Jones's appendicitis or slingshot sore throat is a great potentiality. I hope that is not the reason why some old fogey doctor and politically efficient health officers still support the popular fallacy that a "simple" sore throat, like a "simple" coryza, is of no importance.

One generous swabbing of the side walls of the throat and the surfaces of the tonsils with tincture of iodine and glycerin, equal parts, at the first feeling of soreness, is perhaps the best medicinal treatment. To do this it is necessary to use a spoon or other object as a tongue depressor, pressing firmly, but not roughly, against the tongue; then quickly but not roughly paint or swab one side, then the other, with the glycerin-iodine. For this purpose a narrow stick or wire the length of a lead pencil is to be wrapped at one end with a wisp of absorbent cotton which is well wet with the solution, but not dripping. Better, in most cases, than this iodine-glycerin mixture is a careful painting with a moderately strong silver nitrate solution, but this should be done by a physician; it seems that silver nitrate painting at the very first feeling of soreness often aborts or wards off a severe infection, even quinsy.

As a gargle and mouthwash, I am sure that no known medicine has any advantages over a solution of much boric acid as a pint of boiled water will take up, used hot, every hour. And as an external application the use of plain cold compresses, changed half-hourly or hourly, will give all the relief any application can give. The general home treatment should be rest in bed, hot mustard foot bath, and the other measures already suggested here for acute respiratory infections as a class.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Double Ha, Sold Officer Squires

Can you suggest anything for a tender irritable skin? I have a heavy beard and shave every day.

(G. H.)

ANSWER—That accounts for it. I've often wondered why I had to shave every day in order to avoid being chased by my own dog. Try this after shaving:

Boric acid ½ ounce
Glycerin 1 ounce
Tragacanth (60 grains (one dram))
Rain or distilled water 1 pint

Slowly boil the tragacanth in the water, stirring frequently, till dissolved in a clear homogeneous jelly (water must be added to keep up to one pint). Dissolve in the boric acid and glycerin while boiling. When cool add a drop or two of any perfume if desired. Apply to face after shaving and before the skin is quite dry.

Cold Morning Baths for Boys

I am a boy of thirteen, and lately I have been taking cold morning baths. But my father thinks it is too great a shock for my system. Please advise me whether to continue them. (G. J.)

ANSWER—The shock is all right, if you enjoy the baths and feel warm and invigorated afterward. If you are cold, shivery, blue or tired after the baths they are not good for you. But if you like them and enjoy the reaction they are fine for you.

Twenty-Five Years Ago

Saturday, May 23, 1896

W. D. Whorton was an Oshkosh visitor. A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hueth. F. C. Shattuck of Neenah purchased a team of fine driving horses at Chicago.

Capt. and Mrs. Welcome Hyde went to Bear Creek for a several days' visit with their son, Fred Hyde.

Mrs. C. P. Richmond left for Lima, Ohio, to spend the summer with her son, Charles.

Edward E. Bales was engaged as Memorial day orator. President of the day was Mayor Peter Thom and chief marshal, William Wilson.

Edward Lehman's new steam launch, Fawn, was placed in commission.

John Fransway, expert horse shoer, reopened his shop on Edwards-st.

Kutler's bakery, restaurant and confectionary store was ready for business in its new location at 782 College-ave.

Fragments of bones of an Indian of great stature and age were found by workmen in a sand-pit at Waverly street, while screening led of sand.

General Lucius Fairchild, commander-in-chief of the Loyal Legion and ex-commander-in-chief of the G. A. R., died at his home at Madison.

John McNaughton was re-elected president of Outagamie County Bible society; E. E. Dunn, secretary; and C. S. Little, treasurer. The society distributed 600 bibles during the year.

Howard W. Kellogg of Milwaukee, who graduated from Lawrence university with the class of 1886, conducted a union meeting of the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. at Oshkosh last night.

George J. Schultz removed his stock of drugs from 782 College-ave. to his new location at 788 College-ave.

J. and M. Rossmelns were offering their line of shoes at a reduction of over 50 per cent.

PANHANDLERS CAMP IN SUBWAYS

New York—Gotham's mad rush is getting tired of stumbling over beggars in subway entrances. The police say the subway is not public property and do not molest the beggars.

So the Merchants Association has asked heads of the transit companies to have private police drive the beggars out where city police can get 'em.

WOMEN UNVEIL

Turkish women who formerly were not allowed to appear on the streets now serve as hospital nurses, shop girls, waitresses and telephone girls. They don't wear veils, either.

Art As A National Asset

By Frederic J. Haskin

Washington, D. C.—That the American Government and American business are neglecting a great business opportunity is not providing for the development of native artists, as the governments of other civilized countries do, is the statement of Joseph Pennell, perhaps the most widely known of American graphic artists, and generally considered to be the foremost American etcher and lithographer.

Mr. Pennell is now in Washington to install in a special room in the Library of Congress the great collection of etchings, drawings, manuscripts and letters of James McNeill Whistler, which Mr. and Mrs. Pennell have presented to the government of the United States. Mr. Pennell was asked for an interview about this collection, but the ideas he expressed on the development of art in America seemed so interesting as to require a separate article.

Mr. Pennell was discussing the fact that Whistler, perhaps the greatest of American artists, spent his whole life working in London and came to be regarded as a British artist rather than an American one. In like manner, he pointed out, nearly all American artists of distinction have spent a large part of their time in Europe, and many of them lived there. To a lesser extent, the same course has been followed by American musicians and writers. Henry James became an Englishman and Marion Crawford spent most of his life in Rome. The list of American writers, artists and scholars who have deliberately expatriated themselves is a long one, and the loss to America from this expatriation is hard to compute.

A nation is developed mentally by its artists and thinkers, just as it is developed physically by its capitalists and engineers. History seems to show that the artists and thinkers exert the really decisive influence upon a nation's destiny. Certain it is that the art and thought are all that remain of us of the ancient civilizations. It is harder to see how art and thought have affected our own history, for we have had very little of either, yet any one can recognize how the work of Emerson has molded American idealism, how "Uncle Tom's Cabin" helped to bring about the great national crisis, how Mark Twain's "Innocents Abroad" taught us a new and more independent attitude toward Europe.

It is also easy to see that the great painters of a country are among its chief claims to the respect and admiration of the rest of the world. All the conquerors that Spain sent forth only gained her people a reputation for bloodlust, but the great painter, Velasquez, has won the reverence of the world for Spanish genius.

America's Loss

The argument could be expanded to any length. The point is that no nation claiming to be civilized can afford to neglect its artists and men of intellect, forcing them to seek training and appreciation in other countries, and so interpret and enrich the life of other countries instead of their own. This is just what America has been doing, especially with regard to her painters.

The reasons why so many American writers have chosen to leave their native country are many and complicated. Mr. Pennell summarizes one of them by saying: "You can't have any art in a dry country." He does not mean by this that alcoholic inspiration is necessary to an artist. He means that the spirit of censorship which prompts a government to regulate the sumptuary habits of its citizens, is opposed to the development of individuality, and individuality is the essence of any art. The spirit expressed in the prohibition law, Mr. Pennell thinks, is calculated to produce a nation of uniform mediocrity, and is opposed to the development of great and striking personality in art or any other line. Personal liberty, he thinks, is indispensable to the development of personality.

The Bureau cannot give advice on legal, medicinal, and financial matters. It does not attempt to settle domestic troubles, nor to undertake exhaustive research on any subject. Write your question plainly and briefly. Give full name and address and enclose two cents in stamps for return postage. All replies are sent direct to the inquirer.)

Q. Have railroad employees any representation in the Railroad Labor Board? If so, which one got the increase in wages granted to common laborers of last year? M. M.

A. The United States Railroad Labor Board is composed of three representatives of the public, three representatives of railroad management and three of railroad employees. The wage increase of July 30, 1920, was made by the Railroad Labor Board, and all members of the board participated in the decision. In the proceedings at that time and in the recent controversy over proposed wage reductions, the shop crafts were represented before the Board by E. W. Jewell, president of the Railroad Employees Department, and the Maintenance of Way men were represented by E. F. Grable, president of the Brotherhood of that group of workers.

Q. Where do the best crabs come from? J. M. E.

A. The Chesapeake Bay blue crab, the largest specimen found along the Atlantic Coast is considered the best. While these crabs were very plentiful a few years ago, it is becoming evident that unless a "closed season" is declared, they will become as rare and high priced as terrapin.

Q. The little pea crabs, found within oyster shells, are considered a delicacy, while the cancer magister, a large crab of the Pacific Coast, is extensively used for food in that part of the country.

Q. Is Jacob's Well still in existence? F. S.

A. This well is near Nablus, Syria. It is claimed that it was hewn in the rock by Jacob. A church built over the well was destroyed during the period of the Crusades.

Q. Is soapy water, in which washing apparel has been washed, injurious to forest trees? J. S. C.

A. The Bureau of Forestry says that soap suds, or water in which soap has been dissolved, would not be good to use on trees. The alkali in the soap would be harmful.

Q. Which fraternal organization has the largest membership? F. R. I.

A. The largest fraternal association

TALKS ON CITIZENSHIP

By D. O. KINSMAN, Ph. D.

Professor of Economics, Lawrence College, and Educational Director of the Wisconsin Society for Civic and Economic Education.

The State Highway Commission

Do you know that the United States Census places no value upon our highways? Indeed, until recently the people themselves placed but little value upon them. So long as the ox and the horse drew the heavy wagon with its heavier load along the highway, little attention was given to road building. With the growth of population and the coming of the buggy the roads received more attention—the immature boys and the old men devoted their time and some of their energy to "working out the road tax".

Some maintain that the recent interest in highway improvement must be attributed to the "joy rider." If so, he has been quite worth while. The automobile has been the principal influence, it is true, whether used for pleasure or business.

The movement for better highways is nation wide. Wisconsin is typical of many of the leading states of the Union. The original which was adopted shortly after the crisis of 1837 made it impossible for the state to contract any debts for internal improvements. But in 1908 an amendment made it possible to use state funds for the construction and improvement of public highways. A few years later, in 1912, a law was enacted providing for a state system of highways. This was but a beginning, yet the piecemeal improvements made throughout the state during the five years which followed made the people acquainted with the possibilities of good roads.

While such work served a good purpose, it came to be appreciated that continuous improved highways were necessary for the development of the state.

At this time the Federal Aid Law was passed providing the sum of $75,000,000 to be divided among the states and used in the construction of post roads. Of the amount $25,000,000 was to be apportioned among the states in proportion to the area, $25,000,000 in proportion to the population and $25,000,000 in proportion to the mileage of rural post roads. The expenditures are distributed over a period of five years, from 1916 to 1921. In order to receive federal aid, a state is obliged to provide an amount not less than 10 per cent of the federal government. It must also have a state highway department.

By the law of 1912 and the revised law of 1917 the State Highway Commission, together with a special legislative committee of five members, was empowered to lay out a system of state trunk highways. This committee consists of five members with a state highway engineer and a bridge engineer. A very complete system of the country seats together with the other cities of the state possessing a population of 5,000 or more, has been laid out. When constructed this system will provide a perfect network of good roads covering the entire state. The work is carried on under the direction of the State Highway Commission assisted by the county highway commissioner of each county where the road is being built. The material used and the manner of construction have been very carefully determined with a view to economy, efficiency and durability.

The state legislature has met the requirements of the Federal Law and has made an appropriation fully equal to the amount allotted to the state by the federal government. The amount contributed by the federal and state governments is divided among the counties, one-third in proportion to the total road mileage, one-third in proportion to valuation and one-third in proportion to area. The county is required to contribute an amount equal to one-half the amount provided by the state and federal governments. By such a distribution of the expense the county, the state and the federal government each contribute one-third of the cost. The carrying out of the state program for the construction and maintenance of trunk roads was made financially possible by raising the license fee on automobiles. No general tax was necessary.

Once constructed, the systematic maintenance of the trunk roads is the duty of the county. A portion of the funds for the maintenance is provided by the state, which makes it possible for the State Highway Commission to retain effective control of the work. The highway system is divided into patrol sections, averaging approximately ten miles in length. Each is in charge of a patrolman equipped with a team and wagon, a road grader, a road planer, a drag, a plow and other tools necessary for road work. It is his duty to devote his entire time to inspecting, repairing and improving his section of the road. Since often the patrolman is unable to maintain the road in proper condition all counties have gangs of road workers equipped with the necessary tools and machinery that make efficient road repairing possible at a moderate cost.

The trunk lines needed some designation which would make it easy for travelers to follow them. After much study and thought the idea of numbering them was originated. The numbers are so conspicuous and so continuous that the traveler finds no difficulty in understanding directions and following any trunk line. The plan has proven very satisfactory.

Our state system of road building is a great work well begun and we are sure it will not be long before any citizen with no more than two days' easy and comfortable driving can reach the most remote part of the state.

(One week from today Professor Kinsman will close this series of articles with a description of "A Road Patriot.")

THURSDAY—Sunshine club. Meeting of Womens Auxiliary to Oney Johnston Post of American Legion.

FRIDAY—Mu Phi Epsilon sorority formal. Parcel Post party of Trinity English Lutheran church.

Farewell Party—Mr. and Mrs. Frank Tank, 780 Lake-st., entertained Friday evening at a farewell party in honor of their nephew, Ernest Tank who left later in the evening for his home at Amboy, Minn., after spending the past seven months in Appleton. He was accompanied by Miss Lena Tank and Emil Tank of Harrison, who will visit there for several weeks.

The guests were Mr. and Mrs. Paul Tank, Lena, Walter and Emil Tank of Harrison, Otto Tank, John Falk and Mrs. Harold. Ernest Tank, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Ecker and children Evelyn, Ramona, Walter, Fred, Carl Ecker.

Games and music furnished entertainment for the guests after which refreshments were served. The party autoed to Neshah where Mr. Tank boarded the Soo train for St. Paul.

Sorority Dinner Dance—Phi Mu sorority of Lawrence college entertained members, alumni and friends at a dinner dance Friday evening in the French room of the Sherman house. The Ragadores from Fort Atkinson furnished the music. A large electric sign made in the shape of the sorority emblem occupied a conspicuous place at one end of the room. Sorority banners and baskets of flowers were used in the decorations.

Covers were laid for 160. Among the alumnae members present were Corinne Lawton, Fort Atkinson; Ada Burt, Dorothy Orr, Chicago; Hazel Card, Markesson; Myra McGinnis, Waupaca; Ethel Buckmaster and Dorothy Richards, Appleton.

Many at "Beach" Dance—About 350 persons attended the "beach" dancing party given Friday evening at Armory G by the recreation department of Appleton Womens club for the benefit of the vacation house. The idea of the beach was cleverly worked out in the decorations and stunts. The Puckwudjies "tagged" dancers with little bunches of violets and realized $14 by the sale.

The lemonade and ice cream booths were also popular and helped in fattening the coffers of the department. One of the features of the evening was the balloon dance in which the object was to keep one own balloon as long as possible without breaking it while at the same time breaking as many others as possible.

Annual Meeting—Arrangements are being made for the annual get-together meeting of Appleton Womens club, which will be held at 6 o'clock Tuesday evening in Appleton high school. The members will take their basket lunch and their own dishes. Hot tea and coffee will be served. A novel demonstration "Pledge!" I will get into all the papers," I groaned.

"Let it be," I said. "I'm going down to the phone and call Bob!"

"I'll do no such thing! I'm going down to the phone and call Bob!"

Martha Palmer entered the corridor before I could carry out my threat. To my surprise, Martha agreed that Ann ought to remain in jail all night if she desired to do so.

"I came to get Jane to bail you out. I can fix it with Nichols and Nichols. But if you prefer to remain, Jane and I will go away and not come back until after breakfast tomorrow!"

Ann did not wince as we expected her to do.

"I'm game. You girls can go any time," she urged.

"You'll not find this place amusing—nor comfortable!" Martha warned Ann. "And you will not like the food, my dear!"

"Send me some chocolate—and fruit—and cigars!"

That the prisoner was like. He was a "rolling" pallid wretch whom the Chicago fairly hustled into prison. Martha and I were startled by the clang of the street door behind us, and surprised to hear its lock snap sharply. And then we heard the swell of ugly voices, and turned to face a crowd of men and boys rounding the corner of the block.

Suddenly I was astonished to feel myself hauled from the steps by strong arms. A strapping big fellow said in my ear:

"No place for a lady, ma'am! Better get away quick, ma'am! Things is doing!"

Martha grasped my arm.

"Into you, car—quick—quick!" she whispered. "A mob!"

"A mob—storming this jail?"

Martha nodded.

"Think—Ann Lorimer is locked up in there! What are we going to do?"

"Get into your car. Let me think!"

Martha answered.

Her tone was quiet but her face was as white as a linen mask.

WHERE THE BEST PEOPLE MEET

BATTERY PLANT IS SEEKING LOCATION

New London Also to Have Former Milwaukee Clothing Factory Soon.

Special to Post-Crescent
New London.—Miss Marian Skinner, city school nurse, spent Friday and Saturday in Clintonville as a delegate from the Civic Improvement league to the convention of Federated Women's clubs.

Miss Beulah McCombe, is spending the weekend with friends at Appleton. The Bachelors gave a private dance at the girls club Wednesday evening. About twelve couples were in attendance.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Farrell and two children and Mrs. Katherine Buck are spending the weekend at Niagara. Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Wright and little son have returned from a visit in Muskegon, Mich. Mr. Wright and his brother Lloyd, who recently sold his newspaper plant at Hortonville, will edit a paper at Muskegon, Mich., formerly owned and edited by their father. Robert Wright was formerly owner and editor of the Clintonville Gazette.

A group of local members of the E. F. U. drove to Neenah Tuesday evening to attend a special meeting of that organization at which fifty candidates were initiated into the order. A social session followed the initiatory work.

C. A. Anderson and Fred Schmidt will open a garage and repair shop in the Rogier building on South Pearl-st. H. F. Clark and son have sold their battery and tire vulcanizing shop on the corner of Pearl and North Water-st. to W. V. Benedict of Appleton. The new owner took possession last Monday.

New London will play its second official game of the season next Sunday afternoon, when the Edisons meet the Overalls of Oshkosh on the Oshkosh diamond. It is the first game of the season for the Oshkosh baseball fans and they have planned band music and other features that mark an opening day. Mayor A. C. McHenry will throw the first ball. The Edisons defeated Kaukauna last Sunday by the close score of 3 to 2.

A. W. Anderson, newly appointed assessor to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of H. F. Fuerst is making a house to house canvass in each ward, for the purpose of holding a personal interview with each taxpayer before completing the assessment roll and opening it for inspection at the city hall.

At a meeting in the city hall Wednesday evening, attended by about sixty business men and others interested, F. W. Curtis of Chicago, gave a demonstration of the Adco Dry Storage battery and submitted a proposition to engage in manufacturing the battery in New London. Mayor Wendland, acting as chairman of the meeting, appointed a committee composed of F. L. Zang, Fay R. Smith and G. A. Vandree to make investigation and report. It was deemed advisable to make no deal with Mr. Curtis until the Adco company had been thoroughly investigated.

J. C. Danielson has resigned as superintendent of the municipal electric light plant and sub-station, the resignation to take effect the last of May. The vacancy will be filled by Ray Thomas, chief engineer at the plant.

Bert Allen, who was injured over a year ago while in the employ of the city as driver of the fire truck, will go to Milwaukee at the city's expense to have photographs taken by X-ray specialists, of his injured ankle and foot.

Mr. and Mrs. David N. Vanderveer will move their household goods from the Mayo residence on South Pearl-st. to the Lawrence home on East Washington st.

New London will soon have another promising industry. The Alexandra Clothing company of Milwaukee will soon move its factory to this city. The company has purchased the old Cline block on North Water-st. near Shaw-anost bridge. Extensive repairs will be made and H. W. Gneich, local contractor will be in charge of the remodeling. The building is to be ready for occupancy before the first of August. New London is to be made the manufacturing headquarters for the company.

Joseph Unger is moving his family to Medina, where he will open a shop to do general carpentering and repairing, wagon making, and horse-shoeing. Mr. Unger has been in the employ of George Freiburger and sons as carpenter, and has lived in New London for twenty years.

Mrs. H. Clark was operated upon at St. Mary hospital, Oshkosh, the first of the week.

After the annual business meeting and election of the Woman's study club to be held Monday afternoon, May 23 at the home of Mrs. Andrew Rimmerhoff, Wyman-st., the meetings will be suspended for the summer. Next October will mark the beginning of the new club year.

FIREWORKS LAWS TO BE ENFORCED

Industrial Commission Warns Against Improper Sale or Use for July 4.

Sanity and safety of life and property in observance of Independence day, July 4, are urged by the industrial commission of Wisconsin in one of its latest bulletins where it warns that the same laws will apply in the state as in the last three years concerning the sale and discharge of fireworks. Dangerous explosives are barred and care must be exercised in holding fireworks displays at a safe distance from buildings.

"Citizens on New Years day, the southerners at Christmas time and the American boy on July 4, discharge fireworks purely for excitement and not because of Confucianism, christianity or patriotism," the commission says.

Sale and possession of toy pistols, toy revolvers or other toy firearms is prohibited by law. It also is unlawful to sell or bring into the state fireworks containing picro acid, picrates, chlorate of potash, compound dynamite, mixture of dynamite or other high explosive mixtures, explosive canes or to use blank cartridges or pistols, explosive paper caps, or firecrackers more than three inches in length and half an inch in diameter. Other regulations require that no fireworks of an explosive nature shall be stored within 200 feet from a neighboring building, except in wholesale houses in wholesale packages and that they shall not be discharged within 200 feet of any building. Roman candles or skyrockets must be discharged 500 feet from buildings. These rules do not apply to municipal displays arranged in connection with celebrations.

REVIVAL OF TRADE IS SEEN BY EXPERT

Indications that business conditions are improving are contained in a survey by Archer Wall Douglas, chairman of the committee on statistics and standards of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, a copy of which has been received by the local chamber.

Automobile factories are resuming in a modest way, Mr. Douglas points out, and there is a better demand for lumber, prepared roofing and paint. Most of the building will be confined to cities until after the farmer has made another harvest.

Manufacturing is running mostly on short time. Excessive railroad rates have been a handicap and have discouraged shipment of fruits and vegetables for any distance.

Farmers are said by Mr. Douglas to be economizing as never before. They are making greater use of horses and letting the automobile stand in the barn. Buying has been resumed by farmers in the grain growing sections, indicating the approach of better times.

ILLINOIS PASTOR WILL BE SPEAKER

The Rev. Ernest Tittle, pastor of the First Methodist church, Evanston, Ill., has been secured by Dr. Samuel Platts, to deliver the commencement address for the 1922 graduating class Wednesday morning, June 15. The speaker is a graduate of Ohio Wesleyan university where he received his B. A. degree and later his D. D. degree. He is also a graduate of Drew Theological seminary. During the late war he spent eight months in the service of the army Y. M. C. A. He is the author of the book "What Must the Church do to be Saved."

Exercises of commencement week will open Saturday afternoon June 11, with the junior recital of the conservatory of music. Events will be held each day, concluding with the graduation exercises at 10:30 Wednesday morning, June 15.

Clear Building Site

The first visible sign of the construction of the new Lutheran Aid association building was manifested Friday morning when a crew of men commenced removing the stone at the edge of the site on both Superior and College streets. People Were Fighting H.C.L. 1,600 Years Ago

Roman Ruler Had to Fix Prices to Stop Profiteering and Withholding.

People in Appleton talk about the good old days when prices were low and the dollar would coral many articles of food or clothing before it finally was surrendered into the merchant's cash register. They wish for the old days, when they didn't have to combat the high cost of living.

Those who are weary of the fight might be interested to know that the inhabitants of ancient Rome faced this same problem 1,600 years ago. There was so much extortion and profiteering going on that Diocletian, the Roman ruler, had to establish maximum price lists beyond which no merchant could go unless he put his life in peril.

This interesting fact was discovered by Hugh G. Corbett, managing secretary of the chamber of commerce, who happened to be reading Abbott's "The Common People of Ancient Rome." He came across the chapter dealing with prices and profits and was amused to find that conditions of the early times paralleled those of today.

A proclamation drawn up by Diocletian, translated from ancient tablets, would sound like a newspaper editorial condemning the cold storage plant or the beef trust. The document reads in part:

"Who is of so hardened a heart and so untouched by a feeling for humanity that he can be unaware, nay that he has not noticed that in the sale of wares which are exchanged in the market, or dealt with in the daily business of the cities, an exorbitant tendency in prices has spread to such an extent that the unbridled desire of plundering is held in check neither by abundance nor by seasons of plenty."

In the conclusion of the document, he says: "It is our pleasure, therefore, that those prices which the subjoined written summary specifies, be held in observance throughout all our domain, that all may know that license to go above the same has been cut off. It is our pleasure (also) that if any man shall have boldly come into conflict with this formal statute, he shall put his life in peril. In the same peril also shall he be placed who, drawn by avarice in his desire to buy, shall have conspired against those statutes. Nor shall he be esteemed innocent of same crime, who, having articles necessary for daily life and use, shall have decided hereafter that they can be held back, since the punishment ought to be even heavier for him who causes need than for him who violates the laws."

Prices were about 33 per cent lower 1,600 years ago than today on some items, according to the lists compiled by the ruler for merchants to follow. The figures revised into American money give these grain prices by the bushel: barley, 74.5 cents, rye 45 cents, beans 45 cents, peas 45 to 74.5 cents, oats, 22.5 cents. Beer was 1 1/4 to 3 cents a quart and wine 22 1/2 cents a quart.

Oil of first quality was 30.3 cents a quart; vinegar, 4.3 cents; honey, 30.3 cents; salt, 74.5 cents a bushel. Meat prices by the pound were: pork, 7.3 cents; beef, 4.3 cents; pig liver, 9.3 cents; ham, 12 cents; goose, 87 cents; lamb, 13 cents. Butter was quoted at 8.8 cents; fish, from 4 to 14.6 cents a pound. Lettuce, cabbage, turnips and other staple vegetables brought 1.7 cents; apples, figs and grapes, 1.7 cents a pound. Eggs were sold by the pound at 1.7 cents; milk, 6 cents a quart; cheese, 6 cents a quart.

Shoes bought real bargains in the ancient days. Boots for mule drivers and peasants cost 52 cents; senatorial shoes, 43 cents; women's boots, 26 cents. Contrary to the situation today women bought their shoes of all kinds much cheaper than the men did.

If wages were set at the same scale now that Diocletian fixed in the early days of history laborers would prefer to let the matter rest with the employer rather than the state, for they were a negligible factor. The manual laborer received 10.8 cents a day and keep; bricklayer and carpenter, 21.6 cents a day and keep; painters, 32.4 cents and keep; bakers, 21.6 cents a day and keep.

Barbers had their wages computed at nine-tenths of a cent for each person served; writers got from 8 to 11 cents for each 100 lines; tailors, 26.1 cents for each garment cut out. Teachers were paid so much a month for each pupil taught, ranging from 21.6 cents for elementary teachers to 22.6 for arithmetic and stenography. Teachers of Greek, Latin and geometry received 87 cents a pupil, teachers of rhetoric, $1.09 a pupil. Lawyers received $1.09 for presenting a case and $4.35 for finishing the case.

Transportation also was less expensive. One person could travel a mile for nine-tenths of a cent. Ready-made clothing of a stylish kind had fancy prices. Military mantles were $17.40; undergarments from $5.44 to $8.70; tunic with sleeves, $8.70; British mantle, $26.08; Gallic soldier cloak, $43.78; white bed blankets, $6.96.

Silk was a costly item, perhaps due to its scarcity. White silk was priced at $52.22 a pound, purple at $652.20; purple wool, $217.40. Ordinary washed wool for spinning ranged from 10.8 to 76 cents a pound. Coarse linen thread was $1.96 to $3.13 a pound.

THE STAGE

Conservatory Faculty Member Soloist
Gladys Yves Brainard who is to be soloist with the New York Philharmonic Orchestra is a pianist who has won distinction as a recitalist in many tours which have covered the entire country. Her playing is virile and dazzling in its brilliance and back of it all is the genuine understanding of the musician of artistic maturity.

Her playing gives the keenest enjoyment to all lovers of the higher piano playing.

Miss Brainard has played concertos with many of the leading symphony orchestras. Her last appearance was with the Minneapolis Symphony orchestra when she created an ovation with her playing of the difficult Liszt concerto for piano and orchestra. In the concert Saturday evening she will play the Liszt Hungarian Fantasy, a work of great charm and brilliance.

LOCAL BREEDERS GET HIGH MENTION

Three Holstein Cows Receive
National Listing—Consign to State Sale.

W. H. Steffensen, Otto Mossholder and sons, and Wiese and Schaefer are among the Outagamie county Holstein breeders whose cows have made such high records as to entitle them to mention in the latest official bulletin of the Advanced Registry National Holstein association.

Appleton Fair second, owned by Mr. Steffensen, has just completed a record of 29.41 pounds of butter and 548.5 pounds of milk at the age of 6 years, 7 months.

The Mossholder cow, Orplington Lady Piebe, 3, made 494.5 pounds of milk and 22.67 pounds of butter, Ormsby Hengerveld Segis, owned by Wiese and Schaefer, started with a record of 27.28 pounds of butter and 429.4 pounds of milk as a senior 2-year old.

Holstein officials say Wisconsin is one of the leading states in the union for high producing cows. Breeders have developed more than 30 cows that have produced 1,000 to 1,800 pounds of butter in a year. Some idea of the proportion may be gained when it is known that only 325 cows in the United States and Canada have been able to reach the 1,000-pound butter mark.

COUNTY COMMENCEMENT WILL BE HELD JUNE 3

The annual commencement of the county schools will be held Friday, June 3, either in Appleton or at Lake Winnebago, the location not having been definitely determined. The graduating class will be one of the largest in the history of the county and will number close to 250 pupils. Standings of the final examinations will be mailed to the various teachers from the office of the county superintendent of schools next Monday.

VALLEY DRAYMEN WILL MEET HERE

Draymen of the Fox River valley will meet at the Vocational school here next Monday evening to discuss formation of a valley organization and to present a united front against state senate bill No. 336 which would classify country roads and impose a hardship on truck lines doing an intercity business.

The meeting is called here at the request of the Milwaukee Draymen association which will send speakers to explain the senate bill. It is believed if all Badger draymen protest against the bill sufficient pressure can be brought on the legislature to insure its defeat.

Jail is Empty

The county jail is empty at present for the first time since P. G. Schwartz assumed the duties of sheriff at the beginning of the year. Less than two weeks ago it had a dozen occupants, some of whom were awaiting trial, while others were being temporarily held pending sentence.

HIGH SCHOOL TRACK AND FIELD MEET HERE TODAY

SIX SCHOOLS ARE REPRESENTED AT LAWRENCE FIELD

Madison Is Picked to Win With Appleton Finishing in Second Place.

With the pick of athletes of six schools primed to establish new records, the revival of eastern Wisconsin interscholastic track and field meets under auspices of Lawrence college started at Lawrence field Saturday afternoon. Weather conditions are ideal and the running track has been put in the best possible shape for the big meet and it will not be surprising if some new records are made.

Madison is picked to win the meet inasmuch as it has sent its best men here to prepare them for the state contests in Madison next Saturday. Appleton, with a large squad entered, is second choice while little is known of Oshkosh, Neenah, Ripon and Kaukauna.

Madison's athletes arrived here Friday night in order to be thoroughly rested before the meet. The boys are determined to make a good showing in order to complete Madison's splendid athletic record. It has been a runner-up in all state athletics since last fall.

Lawrence college authorities believe the meet will revive interest in track athletics in this section of the state and also will call attention to the local school. Lawrence is making a determined bid for students of athletic prowess and bringing high school stars here often paves the way for having them attend the local institution when they leave high school.

Gold, silver and bronze medals are to be awarded winners of first, second and third places in Saturday's meet. Loving cups will be given the school winning the largest number of points and also to the athlete with the best record.

Zbyszko Comes Back After Eleven Years!

New York—"There is no sense in getting old. To do so is very unintelligent. If you would stay young and verily you must exercise more and eat far less."

The speaker was Stanislaus Zbyszko, who, at 41, has staged a real comeback and is now champion heavy-weight wrestler of the world. He began his mat work when 19 and first picked off the crown in a match at Moscow. In 1910 he lost to Frank Gotch, who died some years later, undefeated champion of the world.

Stages a Comeback
Zbyszko, now hero of 927 consecutive matches, recognized Gotch as his only master, but he did not regard the championship officially until he won over Ed "Strangler" Lewis on May 6, of this year. It took him 11 years to come back—but he did it.

"I am in better condition physically now than ever before in my life," says Zbyszko. "To me this is no startling thing—for I have always taken care of myself, and used good judgment in regulating my life."

"The trouble with the young men of America today is that they do not use the means at hand which will provide happiness of health and consequent peace of mind."

Moderation the Thing
"To live properly there is but one maxim—moderation in all things and complete abstinence from the evils of tobacco, late hours, alcoholic liquors and excesses of the drawing room."

Wrestling should be taught in all schools to both sexes.
"A man is just as old as his arteries are supple. I believe that absolutely."

"As an athlete, and especially a wrestler, is much like a barrel of wine. The older he gets the better he should be. It is all tommyrot—as you Americans say—that after 35 a man starts going down the ladder of usefulness."

"When I am 60 I expect to be far superior to myself at 30 or 40." Stanislaus Zbyszko's real name is Stanislaw Zbyszko, now a part of Poland. He was born in a small town in Poland, and his wrestling name in early youth when it was tacked on him by his school fellows. They likened him to the great Polish soldier, Zbyszko, in strength and prowess, so Zbyszko he became and still is.

ZBYSZKO HAS WON 927 CONSECUTIVE MATCHES

HE IS 41 AND AT 50 EXPECTS TO BE IN THE PINK OF CONDITION

READY FOR AMUSEMENT FROM HIS WELL-STOCKED LIBRARY

The champion has been admitted to the bar in Poland. For amusement he reads from his well-stocked library. He drinks two or three quarts of milk a day and eats scarcely any meat at all, but plenty of fresh fruit.

Zbyszko says America is to be his country now. "I shall become a citizen and only return to Europe as a visitor. I believe a man should live where he makes his living."

Today he is worth close to $600,000. He intends to quit the wrestling game when he accumulates $1,000,000. "All my money I wish to spend for the poor and for my mother and wife who are in the old country just now," he says.

"For the present I am confining myself to the task at hand—and that is to prove to Americans that a man can, what you say, come back."

NEED REAL WARM WEATHER TO PLAY GOOD BASEBALL

Great Game in Store for Fans at Menasha if Old Sol Keeps Up Good Work.

If Old Sol keeps up the good work he started a few days ago the largest crowd in the history of the Fox River Valley league should see one of the best games ever played here when the Brandts hook up with the Menasha team in the Menasha ball park Sunday afternoon. Advance sale of tickets indicates a crowd of at least 2,000.

Hank Schultz, who bears a large part of the burden for the Fox River Valley league, is a warm weather pitcher and doesn't hit his stride until the north winds have departed. He likes it best when the thermometer registers around 90 degrees in the shade so his salary arm can be thoroughly thrived out. If warm weather prevails Sunday Menasha batters will have a real job out for them.

Fact of the matter is no team can play good baseball in cold weather. The hands are always stinging, players are stiff and even their eyes seem to be off. The Brandts haven't had a real chance to show what they can do because of cold weather but just let them get started on a warm day and it will keep the opposition humping to keep up with them.

Manager Spies will start last Sunday's team against the Menasha crew. The combination against Kimberly turned in a win and he is loath to make a change. He would like to keep going the remainder of the season with his present team if such a thing is possible.

Watching The Scoreboard

Friday's hero — Lehorveau, the Phillies' outfielder hit a homer that beat the Cards, 4 to 3.

Fournier also hit one for St. Louis.

Manager Cobb and Veach hit home runs, the Tigers running away with the Red Sox, 12 to 2.

Stevenson, Indian rookie, hit a homer helping to beat the Athletics, 16 to 3.

Terry and Sullivan hit home runs but the Cubs lost to the Giants, 10 to 6.

Bigbee's double and Maranville's single in the eighth inning gave the Pirates their third straight victory over Brooklyn, 3 to 2.

Coumbe held the Braves safe all the way and won his own game for the Reds by driving in the winning run in the sixth inning. Score 5 to 4.

Carl Mys was removed from the mound for the first time this year.

JACK AND GEORGES MENTALLY PRIMED FOR BIG BATTLE

Neither Boxer Has Been Knocked Out in Several Years of Fighting.

BY JOHNNY KILBANE,
Featherweight Champion
Both Dempsey and Carpentier will be in the best possible shape mentally for the Jersey battle July 2.

Kilbane

ventures close to the edge a second time.

Always on His Mind
It's always on his mind—the sensation of that stinging wallop to the chin that laid him low, and in his efforts to guard against a repetition of that unpleasant sensation, he loses the take-a-chance spirit that has brought many a ring victory.

I say both principals will be in the best of mental shape for the Jersey, go because they won't be bothered by that K. O. sensation. Dempsey hasn't hit the floor since Jim Flynn knocked him out in the first round in 1917 and his confidence has been boosted a high in the time since by a score of knockouts, including a return fight with Flynn that ended with the big fireman dropping in the first.

Carpentier is even better in this respect than is Dempsey for it's been almost a dozen years since the Frenchman has been felled for the count. Gloria, back in 1909, was the last man to drop the challenger.

It's true that Georges has lost several fights since that time, but he was always standing up fighting at the end of the last round and this kind of a defeat is not disheartening to a man. It makes a better fighter out of him. If anything, for he determines he'll regain his position—and he usually does in the second try.

Poor mental condition loses many a fight for a man before he enters the ring. But it won't slow up the Dempsey-Carpentier battle, because both men are mentally primed.

The White Sox beating the Yanks, 6 to 5.

Ruth got a triple.

Four hits, a pass and an error in the third inning enabled the Browns to beat Walter Johnson, 5 to 4.

PIRATES HITTING IT UP FOR MAJORS

Pittsburg Nine Is Putting Up Averages of Real Merit for Nationals.

(By Henry L. Farrell)

By United Press Leased Wire
New York.—The Pittsburgh Pirates are setting the swiftest pace in the major leagues.

George Gibson's band is heading the National league on strict merits. The club is batting, fielding and getting the best pitching on the big time.

Averages released here Saturday show the Pirates with five .300 batters—Maranville .368; Carey .343; Cuthbert .330; Tierney .324; and Bigbee .300.

Five pitchers on the staff haven't lost a game—Cooper has won six in a row. Glaner four, Fonder two, Yellowhorse one and Carlson one.

Cleveland is managing to keep ahead in the American league by a slight margin on hitting alone.

Speaker hasn't been getting much from his pitching staff but the Indian roster contains ten .300 hitters—Burns .436; Wood .421; Evans .385; Stephens .381; Speaker .378; Uhle .375; O'Neill .377; Sewell .328; Johnston .302 and Smith .302.

Hornsby is setting the pace among the National league regulars with a

Toronto, Ont.—Carl Tremaine, the Listowel, Ont., boxer whom Jimmy Dunn of Cleveland, is tutoring with aspirations for the bantam title, won by a technical knockout from Roy Moore of St. Paul, Friday night.

Moore's seconds threw the towel into the ring when the bell rang for the commencement of the eighth round. Moore claimed he had injured his side and after an examination by two physicians before he left the ring, it was announced that he had sustained a torn ligament on his ribs and it was practically impossible for him to continue.

mark of .457 in 25 games. Rabbitt Maranville is second with .368 in 27 games. McHenry, St. Louis, is batting .364 and Carey, Pittsburgh .343.

Harry Heilmann is setting a terrific gait in the American league with a mark of .465 in 27 games. Cobb is next among the regular workers with .395; Stephens, Cleveland, is third with .381; Sisler, St. Louis, is batting .380 and Tim Lincecum .378. Sutherland, young Tiger pitcher is leading the race with five games won and none lost. Jones, Boston, has won seven and lost one. Red Faber, White Sox, is next with 7 won and 2 lost. Shockley, St. Louis, has won 7 and lost 3 and Coveleskie, Cleveland, has won six and lost 3.

Carpentier's Career

Georges Carpentier has come to the United States from France to fight Jack Dempsey for the heavyweight title less known than any fighter who ever was due to a world championship fight. Hal Cochran, in this story of Carpentier's life, written for the Post-Crescent, tells of the struggles of the one-time mine pit boy in rising to the light-heavyweight championship of the world.

BY HAL COCHRAN
Chapter I

Fifteen years ago Georges Carpentier, at the age of 12, was pit boy in a coal mine in Lens, France. That little obscure mining town had been the scene of his childhood play days and of his early schooling.

He was born of poor parents and as soon as he was old enough, joined his father, a miner, in daily trips to the insides of the earth. The youth's weekly earnings went to help keep the wolf from the Carpentier door.

In those days Georges was a timid, appearing, fair-haired youth, with an appearance far from that of a lad who would indulge in anything that required muscle and brawn. He was generally looked upon as a fireside mender boy.

Working in darkness all day long, away from sunshine and open air, didn't appeal to Georges. He wanted to do something else. With that thought ever on his mind, he occasionally went, after working hours, to a boxing school that had been opened in the town by a Prof. Francois Descamps.

Like many other youngsters, Georges just hung around and watched fighters work. Finally he became well known as one of the youngsters in the town, and was now and then allowed to slip on a pair of gloves himself and mix in the sparring and battling.

One night he gave a much bigger fellow a good drubbing. Descamps witnessed the bout and was much impressed with the fair-haired kid's showing. Georges was encouraged to come to the school more regularly. Eventually the professor had a hunch there was something that goes to make real fighters in the kid—as least a lot of nerve.

Descamps took the matter up with Carpentier's parents. He wanted to take their son under his wing and train him. At first there was much objection, but Descamps' persistence won out and Georges left his pit-boy task for all time.

From then on the youngster was at the gym almost day and night. Rough edges were trained off of him and he was stacked up against the best fighters in Descamps' lot in short notice. Mme. Vanhillebroucq, Descamps' mother-in-law, took an interest in the boy from the start.

Outside battles, with a money angle to them, however, were few and far between. And money talked mighty loud with Descamps and his youthful pupil. Hence they went on little tours and Carpentier staged exhibition bouts in cafes at night. Let Georges tell you about it himself:

"First we staged a fight; then followed with an acrobatic turn. As a grand finale I allowed myself to be sent into a trance by Descamps and did 'thought reading'."

"Was Bunk, But—"

And then Carpentier smiles and says: "L' hypnotisme? C'est la blague!"

Insider Says

The way home runs are flying out this season, it is apparent that a lot of ball players merely needed a pace setter. Babe is it!

Many a path that leads to the home plate is paved with bases on balls.

What's in a name? Well, with Zbyszko and Kotsornaris there is a heck of a lot of letters.

LAWRENCE SHOWS CLASS ON TRACK

Easy Victory Over Oshkosh Normal Gives Confidence to Collegians.

Lawrence's victory over Oshkosh normal Friday indicated the local college is represented by a classy track and field team. The normal school gang came here filled with confidence, expecting more or less of an easy time with the locals. They did succeed in throwing a scare into the Lawrence chorts by winning the first two sprints but after that they were out of luck.

Goan, Lawrence's star sprinter, was handicapped by a strained tendon in his leg and could not cover the course with his customary speed. He probably will be in shape for the state meet in Beloit next Saturday, however, and if he is Lawrence is almost sure of winning firsts in the sprints. Under favorable conditions he can step the 100 yards in about 10 seconds flat which is fast enough to win any race. Doering also is going good and probably could cut two-fifths of a second off his time for the 100 yards if he would slash about ten pounds off his weight. He weighs ten or fifteen pounds more now than he did during the football season when he electrified the crowds with his dazzling speed.

Williams showed considerable skill as a high jumper and pole vaulter although he was not forced to extend himself to win. He should be able to do much better with more serious competition. The best record of the meet was made in the mile run which Hooley won in the really fast time of 4 minutes and 42 seconds. Hooley is one of the classic milers in the state and should win a place in the state meet. He also showed considerable stamina by winning the two mile run in 10 minutes and 55 seconds.

Wheeler had easy picking in the javelin throw, winning with 132 feet. He can throw the spear a good deal farther than that if he has to and should place at Beloit.

Lawrence May Fete Was Best In School History

May Queen Is Crowned and Pageants Staged in Beautiful Natural Theater.

The most beautiful and elaborate May festival ever put on by Lawrence college students in the history of the institution was witnessed Friday by hundreds of spectators. Several hundred guests from out of town were entertained during the day.

Direction of the day's events was in the hands of Miss Anita Gochnauer, physical director of girls athletics at college. She trained all of the dancers and also directed the pageant "The Spirit of America." Tau Tau Kappa fraternity managed the entire affair and was on the job from early morning until after the minstrel show in the evening.

Minstrel, to whom goes much credit for the success of the holiday, consists of Margaret Luce, chairman, Gwendolyn Jacobs, Winifred Harvey, John Vincent, James Deming, Madeline Harrison, Letha Dambach, Edwin Johnson, and Allen Rice.

At 3 o'clock Miss Florence Clark, the May Queen was crowned in a stately march around the campus to a beautifully constructed throne. She was preceded by a guard of honor consisting of three boy scouts, and Little Miss Jean Rasey, crown bearer, and Little Miss Olive Miller, scepter bearer. Her long coronation was borne by Little John Rosebush, Jr., and Miss Archer Bernier. Miss Dorothy Washburn and Miss Florence Mulvey acted as maids in waiting. As they approached the throne, the attendants stepped aside and allowed the queen to ascend, after the crown of roses had been placed on her head and the scepter in her hand. The attendants were seated on either side of her.

The queen and her attendants were followed by all of her devoted subjects, people wearing costumes representative of many lands.

The Alma Mater was sung while the queen's procession was still standing. The first scene depicted was that of the Pied Piper who charmed away the rats and mice from the village of Hamelin and later charmed away the children because the officials refused to pay him the money they promised. The part of the Pied Piper was taken by Marjorie Miller and that of the mayor, Marjorie Ingraham.

One of the most picturesque of the scenes was that of the legend of Teahupah in which the part of the big chief was taken by Mildred Packard and of the princess Telalah by Marie Maxon.

Perhaps the most artistic of the numbers was the aesthetic "scarf" dance. Costumes were especially dainty and graceful. The traditional winding of the May pole concluded the dances given in honor of the queen.

After the recessional, the throng gathered on the river terrace behind Smith house to view the pageant, "The Spirit of America" which was presented by the Sunset Players and the Gray Dominoes in a natural amphitheater on the river bank. The river itself and the green foliage of the trees along the bank furnished an ideal setting for the scenes of the pageant. Only a few additions were necessary to make of the peaceful spot an Indian village near Jamestown, in the year 1607. A group of squaws was seated in front of wigwams grinding corn. A group of warriors were playing tag and romping around, and the braves returned from the hunt, easily bedecked with bright colored blankets and paint.

Suddenly a runner brought news of an approaching white man. The braves quickly depart and return shortly with Capt. Smith, captive. Smith was condemned to be killed and would have suffered this fate but for the timely interference of Pocahontas. The Indian runner appeared a second time announcing the approach of a company of white men. The second episode showed "The Spirit of America" at Plymouth, where the pilgrims took possession offering thanks for their safe arrival. After the white men made friends with the Indians, they invited them to a feast, the first Thanksgiving.

One of the most attractive scenes of the pageant was that of the "Courtship of Miles Standish" in which Standish through John Alden proposed to Priscilla and was rejected. A runner appeared with a snake skin filled with arrows. Standish replied to the sign with a snake skin full of powder and departed to meet the enemy. After the wedding of Priscilla and John Alden, Standish returned and blessed the couple.

In the third episode, "The Spirit of 1789," George Washington took the oath of office and the inaugural ball followed. In the last episode, "The Spirit of 1921," drills and exhibitions were given by boy scouts and Camp Fire girls. Education entered and was given the place of honor in their midst while the Alma Mater was sung. Both the May dances and the pageant were characterized by the careful attention to detail of costume and scenery which adds so much to the attractiveness of the scene.

A picnic supper was served to the students and guests on the campus after which they all gathered at Main hall steps for a college "sing." The crowning event of the day was the minstrel show which was held at 7 o'clock in Main hall. The show included songs, dances, novelty or orchestra numbers and comedy groups. Fenwick Pugh was one of the leading stars as dancer, soloist and comedian.

The funeral services of the late John Kronberg will be held at the home on Main-st. at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon. The Rev. John Helms of Trinity Lutheran church will conduct the services.

Chief Back on Duty
Chief of Police Charles Watts of Neenah is able to be about again after being ill for the last month with inflammatory rheumatism.

Funeral for Drowning Victim
Funeral services for Sylvester Pruchowski, son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Pruchowski, third-st., who was drowned in Fox river Thursday afternoon will be held Sunday afternoon at St. Mary church at 2 o'clock. The Rev. John Hummel will conduct the services.

Case is Postponed
The jury in the case of Theodore Skalmusky of Menasha, who pleaded not guilty in municipal court April 20 to the charge of having committed an offense against public morality, was to have struck Friday but was adjourned to June 23 at 10 o'clock.

Ford car will be given away. The diamond and grounds are in first class shape and a very fast game is expected to be played.

Welzer, spitball artist, will do the mound work for Menasha while Kammer, Anderson or Letche will do the backstopping. The members of the team are all in fine condition and expect to give Appleton a battle royal. Hank Schultz will do the pitching for Appleton.

New Papermill Rumored
It is reported that a new papermill will be built in West Menasha. The new project is said to be backed by eastern men. It is planned to build the mill on the Blair Spring property now owned by H. H. Held. A paper that requires spring water to finish will be manufactured if the proposed plans are carried out. The water of the spring has been tested and seems to have proven satisfactory.

The Neenah and Menasha National Guard companies will go to the range Sunday morning. Neenah high school sent nine men to the Lawrence track meet. They will take part in various events.

Mrs. F. W. Ender of Green May is visiting friends in Menasha. Mrs. C. B. Hartung and son returned Saturday from a visit in Chicago.

who was more deeply patriotic, more strongly American, more anxious for the welfare of his country. His opinions were full of a conscientious sense of responsibility to the people for the maintenance, in its pristine strength, of the constitution of the United States, and in the preservation of the public interest and private right with the same nice balance of his predecessor, John Marshall. In the exercise of the great function of interpreting our fundamental law, judges attain highest distinction by their statesmanlike foresight as to the future operation and effect of the principles established by the judgment of the court. Prominent in his class were Marshall and Bradley and the late chief justice is entitled to be included therein.

And now, after a span of years quite beyond the palmist's period, he goes to his long reward for a life full of high and accomplished purpose and of incessant and most valued service.
